

The moment I saw you, you became the first person to search by my eyes.

The moment sunlight gaze at my eyes, I don't want to open them, Because you weren't there to be my first sight.

The moment I saw your hair. I desire my hand in those locks to caress.

The moment I saw your smile, I'd loved to be the reason to cause that to made it to reach the mile.